

Research at Your Servicesm

Whatever the size of your campaign or business, you can have a dedicated research department on call with Research at Your Servicesm. We developed this solution for clients in the legal, political, corporate and media fields who needed reliable, responsive research but who didn't want to maintain a permanent internal research department. Mobile and skilled in both electronic and on-ground searches, our staff will work like your own to answer queries, retrieve documents and find key data.

We bill hourly or on a retainer basis, and can perform a host of research tasks:

- VETTING POTENTIAL BUSINESS PARTNERS, EXECUTIVE HIRES AND CANDIDATES

Our research department can perform everything from complete due diligence reports to focused inquiries about lawsuits, liens or property ownership. Through Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests, searches of new and traditional media and perusal of public records and official documents, we can thoroughly vet potential partners or candidates or illuminate other subjects of interest.

- RAPID RESPONSE

In the heat of a legal or media campaign, you need to master the art of the counterpunch – and Research at Your Servicesm makes sure you never get caught with your guard down. We can help find data that weakens or negates your opponent's arguments, provide the facts you need to back up your own case and help you anticipate possible attacks.

- FACT CHECKING

Whether you need to document your claims or simply to make sure no errors slip into your final copy, our research team can keep you covered on jobs large and small.

- DATA RETRIEVAL

If you need to turn a hunch into hard fact, Research at Your Servicesm is on call. From establishing property valuations to calculating economic impacts, we can work with you to make sure you have the relevant, focused data you need to make key decisions or formulate persuasive arguments.
